第7問 次の英文をよく読んで、以下の問いに答えなさい。（*印がついた単語には、あとに語注があります。）

In Japan in May, we can see swallows' nests on some buildings such as stations, shops, and our houses. Baby swallows open their mouth wide, and their parents give food to them.

Swallows are popular among Japanese people for many reasons. For example, they eat insects which are bad for crops, but never eat crops, so farmers like them very much. Also, some Japanese people think swallows carry happiness to homes and shops.

Swallows stay in Japan from March to August. When spring comes, they fly to Japan from the southwest and build a nest. *Mud and dry grass are used to do that. A swallow *lays around five eggs at one time. About two weeks later, baby swallows come out from the eggs. Some people say baby swallows eat more than one hundred small insects a day! In three weeks, the baby swallows learn to fly and leave their nests. Before fall comes, swallows start to leave Japan and fly to Southeast Asia.

The number of swallows which fly to Japan is decreasing because the number of rice fields has been decreasing. Many of the insects which swallows eat live in rice fields. So swallows can't get enough food if the number of rice fields becomes small. Taking care of rice fields means protecting swallows.

(注) mud : どろ lay : ~を産む

問1 本文の内容に合うように、次の質問に対する答えとして最も適切なものを、下のア～エの中から一つ選び、記号で答えなさい。

Which is true about swallows?

- ア Some Japanese people think homes and shops with a swallows' nest may become unlucky.
- イ Baby swallows eat small insects, mud and dry grass while they grow in their nest.
- ウ Swallows leave Japan when their baby swallows learn to fly in the sky in March.
- エ It is difficult for swallows to live if there are not enough rice fields in Japan.
