第7問 次の英文をよく読んで、以下の問いに答えなさい。（*印がついた単語には、あとに語注があります。）

There are many kinds of *bugs in the world. Some of them are beautiful, and some are dangerous. What kind of bug is the most dangerous? Bees? Spiders? Many scientists say that *mosquitoes are the most dangerous.

How can mosquitoes be “dangerous” for us? They give us *itchy *bites in summer. That is bad but does not sound dangerous. However, when a mosquito bites you, that can cause a big problem. Mosquitoes sometimes carry diseases after they bite sick people or animals and give you this disease when they bite you. There are many diseases that spread in this way, and some of them are very dangerous. Most of those diseases are not seen in Japan now, but they have been causing problems around the world. Mosquitoes are often called the most dangerous bug for this reason. Mosquito bites can also cause serious *allergic problems. They also cause other problems. They make us stressed at night. We know they give us itchy bites, so some people cannot sleep well if they hear the sound of a flying mosquito.

Mosquitoes cause many problems. You may think, “If mosquitoes disappeared from the world, our lives would be better!” However, some different problems would be caused if that really happened. First, mosquitoes are food for many animals. Birds, frogs and spiders eat them. Baby mosquitoes called *wigglers live in the water, and many fish eat them. Those small animals that eat mosquitoes are food for other bigger animals. So, we can say mosquitoes are important for the environment. Second, diseases are not the only thing carried by mosquitoes. They carry *pollen, too. You may think their main food is *blood, but that is not correct. They usually eat *nectar, and they bite us only when they have eggs. They spread pollen by visiting many flowers. Third, some wigglers eat small pieces of waste in the water, so they can make the water clean.

Mosquitoes are bad and dangerous for us, but on the other hand, they play their part in the environment. In nature, all lives are necessary.

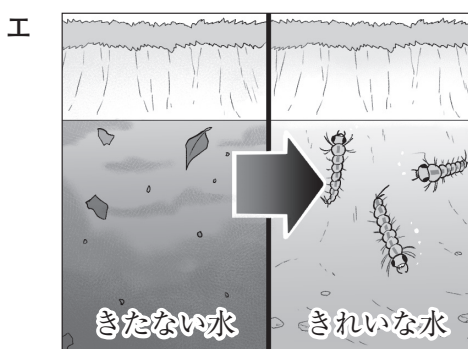

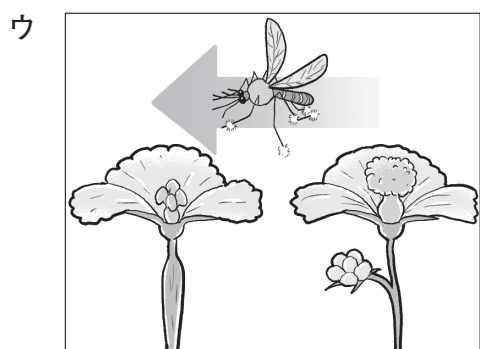

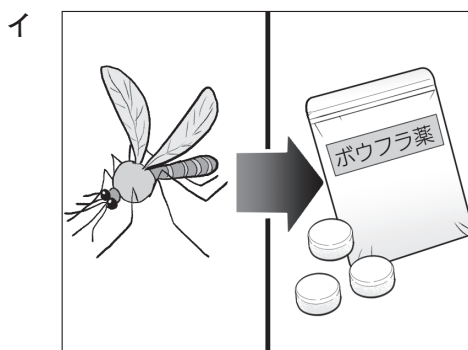

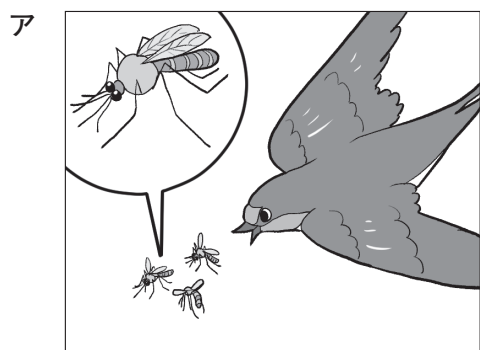

(注) bug : 虫 mosquito : カ(昆虫) itchy : かゆい bite : 刺し傷, 刺す
allergic : アレルギーの wiggler : ボウフラ pollen : 花粉 blood : 血 nectar : 花の蜜
